This is not your typical Asian instructional book on Asian crafting or origami. Making Paper Cranes is an attempt to describe an ever emerging life, in an emerging community within Christianity in North America, that is intentionally taking flight and impacting the world. This theological book engages the social histories, literary texts, and narratives of Asian American women, as well as the theological projects of prominent Asian American feminist theologians. It seeks to offer another liberative theological voice. Inherent in its construction is the interconnectedness of all stories that articulate struggle, resistance, and the artistic flourishing of oppressed peoples. Simply put, Making Paper Cranes is about Asian American mothers, daughters, sisters, and women who are imaginatively and courageously crafting their journeys together in and through their Christian faith.

This book is organized into 15 chapters, and starts with the discussion of the origin of the first paper-machine way back from A.D. 105 in China. The subsequent chapter deals with the development of the paper-machine where the British improved the machine and were then widely used by people. This topic is followed by discussions on the progress of paper making in 1830-1835 where an advanced type of Fourdrinier machine was introduced by Matthew Towgood and Leapidge South. Other chapters describe further improvements on the Fourdrinier machines and the paper-makings on the late 1800's. The last chapter considers the standardization of the paper-making machine during 1870-1890. This book will be of value to machine inventors and those who work in printing presses.

Jarenlang probeerde Ryder Carroll steeds weer nieuwe productiviteitsmethodes, zowel online als offline, maar niets werkte zoals hij wilde. Uit pure wanhoop ontwikkelde hij zijn eigen systeem, de Bullet Journal Methode, die hem hielp om zich beter te concentreren en productief te zijn. Hij deelde zijn methode met enkele vrienden die dezelfde uitdagingen tegenkwamen, en voor hij het wist had hij een viral beweging in gang gezet. We zijn nu een paar jaar verder, en Bullet Journaling vindt inmiddels wereldwijd navolging. De Bullet Journal Methode behelst zoveel meer dan aantekeningen organiseren en lijstjes maken. Het gaat over wat Carroll 'leven met intentie' noemt: afleidingen leren negeren en je tijd en energie richten op de dingen die er echt toe doen, zowel in je werk als in je persoonlijke leven. Dit boek leert je... Het verleden vastleggen: Creëer een duidelijk en uitgebreid overzicht van je gedachten, met niets meer dan pen en papier. Het heden organiseren: Vind dagelijks rust door je takenlijst op een bewuste, systematische en productieve manier aan te pakken. De toekomst plannen: Zet interesses en losse aantekeningen om in zinvolle doelen en verdeel die vervolgens in hanteerbare actiestappen die tot grote veranderingen leiden. Ryder Carroll schreef dit boek voor vastgelopen lijstjesmakers, overweldigde multitaskers en creatievelingen die structuur nodig hebben. Of je nu al jarenlang een Bullet Journal gebruikt of er nog nooit een hebt gezien, De Bullet Journal Methode helpt je om het stuur van je leven weer in eigen handen te nemen.
