South Korea provides an intellectual challenge in the fields of social movements and democracy in that intense mobilization and the strong influence of social movements have accompanied steady democratization for more than two decades, despite major theories having predicted otherwise. This book examines how social movements in previously authoritarian contexts evolve after democratic transition, using South Korea as a case study. It explores how democratic change influences the form of social movements, and how social movements affect the pace and direction of democracy in turn. It explains how South Korean social movements were able to attain strong political influence by focusing on four causal factors: the configuration of major political actors during the transition period, the relational dynamics among social movement groups, the relationship between social movements and institutionalized political actors, and the impact of transnational forces in the post-transition period. Unlike previous scholarship, the book takes a historical, actor-centered, and process-oriented approach that closely follows the interactions among contending actors through event sequences, rather than being driven by abstract theoretical frameworks. In doing so, it analyses uses a broad range of evidence, including police records, untapped activist documents, presidential memoirs, newspaper accounts and original data sets. Shedding light on the complex political reality that gave rise to a contentious civil society in South Korea after democratization, this book also illuminates the institutional conditions that can help promote domestic peace and stability. Therefore it will be of great use to students and scholars of Korean Studies, Korean politics and social movements, as well as policy makers.

Edith Eger was 16 jaar oud toen ze in 1944 naar Auschwitz werd gedeporteerd. Haar ouders werden direct naar de gaskamer gestuurd, Edith werd gedwongen om voor Mengele te dansen. Haar onverschrokkenheid hielp haar en haar zusje te overleven, al waren ze nog maar nauwelijks in leven toen het kamp eindelijk werd bevrijd. In De keuze deelt dr. Edith Eger haar oorlogsherinneringen en de opmerkelijke verhalen van hen die zij sindsdien heeft geholpen. Als psycholoog doet zij uit de doeken hoe ze haar cliënten helpt om zich uit hun eigen gedachten te bevrijden, en hoe iedereen voor vrijheid kan kiezen. Haar indrukwekkende en belangrijke verhaal is een inspiratie voor iedereen. While community quality-of-life indicators are gaining much needed attention in both scholarly work and practice, their application in the areas of parks, recreation and tourism management are not as well known. The applicability of indicator systems for natural resource and natural resource area management within the parks and recreation arena is very high, including urban parks and recreation programs and their influence on quality of life.

Tourism is also an area that needs much more work in terms of assessing impacts as well as developing indicators for gauging progress in the long term. All three areas are an integrated discipline and most programs throughout the developed world are housed co-jointly. There are several researchers across the globe who are conducting innovative work in these areas. The editors feel that a volume on the topic will spur additional interests as well as serve to De jongen die in de hemel was is het bijzondere verhaal van de vierjarige Colton, die op stel en sprong moest worden geopereerd aan een acute blindedarmonsteking. De artsen onderkenden te laat dat de situatie levensbedreigend was, en tijdens de operatie krijgt Colton een hartstilstand. Wonder boven wonder herstelt Colton en niet lang daarna begint hij te vertellen over de operatie: dat hij de artsen met hem bezig zag en dat hij zijn vader in een aparte kamer op zijn knieën zag bidden. De familie weet niet zo goed wat ze ermee aan moet, maar al snel hopen de bewijzen zich op. Colton vertelt dat hij zijn zusje, wier leven na drie maanden eindigde in een miskraam en over wie nooit werd gesproken, zijn overgrootvader en zelfs Jezus heeft gezien. Over al deze mensen weet hij details die hij nooit had kunnen weten en de familie realiseert zich gaandeweg dat ze Colton wel moeten geloven...

This volume examines this rapidly growing and changing field by applying a unified framework that integrates both interpersonal and mass communication investigations into theoretical and applied issues. Using a systems perspective as the organizational framework, relevant issues in the communication of health care, ranging from micro to macro levels, are discussed. The contributors recognize communication as a major factor affecting health today and therefore go beyond examinations of health communication as simply a dissemination of information regarding diseases, diagnoses, and treatments to show it as a much larger and more complex field with applications to all levels and forms of communication. Communication and Health has as its three main objectives: * providing a comprehensive, detailed, and up to-date picture of health communication * applying an integrated, logical structure to the field * making a clear, strong statement regarding the state of health communication and examining its future prospects

The contributors address such issues as provider-patient communication, health care teams, health care organizations, public health campaigns, and health education, and then discuss the factors that affect the processing of health information. Also included are examinations of changes in communication use within interpersonal, small group, and organizational health care contexts as well as the use of mass media and other sources for public health campaigns and for raising public awareness of health issues on a day-to-day basis. Communication and Health fills a void in current literature on this field by serving as both a reference for professionals and researchers and as a textbook for advanced undergraduate and graduate level students in a multitude of courses.
